Fergus from Greenwich Market and Richard from The DPC have teamed up and put together a truly thorough photographic tuition workshop based in Greenwich.

Our tuition workshops will help you learn about your camera and improve your skills whilst enhancing your creative potential.

We offer a one day course based in Greenwich for £195 p/p

Our tuition workshop includes;

- An explanation on how photography works from a technical and aesthetic point of view
- A tutorial on how your camera works, manual mode and various other camera settings
- An explanation on the relationship between aperture, shutter speeds and ISO
- A tour of Greenwich taking in many of our favourite landmarks including The Old Royal Naval College, The Meridian Line and Greenwich Park, with advice and tips along the way
- Back at the studio we explain how to download and file your photographs and introduce you to the wonders of photographic post-production
- You also get to print your very own favourite photograph of the day

The aim of our workshop is to give you as much confidence as possible in your photographic ability. It is also about having fun and provides a social and creative environment amongst a like minded group where we can all indulge our passion in the art of photography.

Regardless of your ability, beginner, intermediate or advanced you are welcome at our workshops and we guarantee everybody will benefit from our advice and experience. We take a maximum of 10 people on our photographic workshops allowing our guests the space and time to express their creativity and have all your questions answered.
